It is with the greatest pleasure that I write to support Greg Danas and G&G Firearms Experts, Inc. to any and all trial lawyers, criminal defense attorneys, and really anyone in need of an expert in the field of firearms or ballistics in general. Greg Danas is the best.

I had the pleasure of retaining Mr. Danas for a first-degree murder trial. The state's evidence suggested that it was two firearms that were involved in a fatal shooting — a fact which would have led to a conviction. Mr. Danas was able to offer opinion showing that the Massachusetts State Police Ballistician's methods and examination were unreliable given his considerable and unimpeachable experience in this field.

Candidly, I would feel comfortable in recommending Mr. Danas for just his excellent trial demeanor and performance in showing the jury, judge, opposing counsel, and even myself just how qualified he is in his field. Up against a well-known and respected Massachusetts State Police Ballistician witness for the prosecution, Mr. Danas was able to show everyone listening that he was a step above his peers in this field. But it is what happened outside of the courthouse that separates Mr. Danas from many of the other qualified experts with whom I have worked.

Going into this case, I had no idea about any of the science or why certain pieces of evidence were important. Mr. Danas educated me and brought me up to speed on the big and the small. He allowed me both to ask questions of him effectively on the stand, but also gave me the tools I needed to ask critical and precise questions of the prosecution's expert witness. It was through his teaching that Mr. Danas gave me the ability to understand, utilize, and capitalize on the evidence in our case to show the jury that there was reasonable doubt — and they agreed. I cannot thank Mr. Danas enough for his patience, assistance and perseverance throughout the case. Whether it was meeting me in his shop to test fire live rounds to show me in person what I should be looking for or talking to me late in the evening when a new issue in the case developed, Mr. Danas was always available, optimistic, and the consummate professional.

I can say with assurance that the result in my case would have been different — and therefore disastrous — without the assistance of Greg Danas and his family-run operation.

I look forward to using Greg in the future for any of my cases.

Sincerely,

Ryan P. Sullivan
